Two Supervisors Going to Washington to Aid Water Plan

MITCHELL AND LYON NAMED FOR TRIP

Negotiations Asking U. S. Aid on Flood Control Nearing Climax
KEMPKEY ASKS HELP
Indications of Success Told in Word From Representative

Negotiations for federal assistance on Orange county's $11,600,000 flood control program were reaching a climax at Washington today, and two members of the board of supervisors were getting ready to leave for the capitol to assist in the final drive to bring the project to the construction stage.

Chairman John Mitchell and Supervisor LeRoy Lyon will start for Washington as soon as details of the trip can be arranged. The decision to send emissaries to the capitol followed a letter from A. Kempkey, engineer now representing the county at Washington. Mr. Kempkey's letter said negotiations had reached the point where the presence of agents of the local governing body is imperative. He urged that representatives of the board join him immediately.

The supervisors lost no time in delegating Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Lyon to go to the capitol. Supervisor N. E. West of Laguna Beach made the motion and Mr. Lyon seconded it, after an executive session of the board.

Indications favorable
Mr. West's motion was that the chairman and one other member of the board, to be named by the chairman, be sent immediately to (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

SATURDAY IS DOLLAR DAY!

Merchants Plan Bargains

"Dollar Day is Saturday" spread the news throughout Santa Ana and the surrounding community today. Placards along the main business streets of the city announced the 1935 semi-annual sales event, and merchants told their plans for the merchandising jubilee.

By bus, railroad and boat, consignments of featured stock have poured into the city from eastern and middle-western markets during the past 30 days. Buyers and store managers have been alert to buying advantages for more than three months, preparatory to the dollar day event.

Hundreds of additions to sales forces of local stores have been planned so that Saturday's customers, which are expected to be tripled, can be served. Last-minute checking of merchandise has kept managers busy this week. Display windows of the stores were to be trimmed with the sale specials tonight, to accommodate those who wished to anticipate their purchases with pre-sale inspection.

To Advertise Bargains
From First to Sixth streets, along Main, Sycamore, and Broadway, and along Fourth street from French to Ross, the posters were up this morning to provide an extra half hour for early shoppers. It was believed today that stores would close at the regular Saturday hour of 9 p. m.

Four-Hour Battle for Votes Ends After Fourteen Ballots

WOMAN GIVEN POST

San Francisco Member Gets Vice Commander Job at Conclave

FRESNO, Aug. 15. (AP)—A four-hour battle for votes requiring 14 ballots to break the deadlock today installed Dan W. Emmett of Santa Paula, former state assemblyman, as commander of the California department, American Legion, He succeeds Archie Closson of Lodi.

The spirited three-cornered battle kept the convention in session last night long past its scheduled adjournment hour.

The official count on the fourteenth ballot showed: Emmett, 1108; Richard J. Welch of Riverside, 674; Charles C. McConehal of Bell, 261. A majority was required to elect.

Emmett Tells Policy
Emmett pledged himself to a business administration and vigorous prosecution of the American Legion program of the Legion.

"The Legion will be run for the Legionnaires, with no favoritism to any section or any person," he said. "Our Americanism program is primarily a national question, and should be handled by the national government in the cooperation of the states in carrying out our campaign to rid the nation of subversive influences."

Ruth Gustafson of San Francisco was named vice commander, a position traditionally given to a woman Legionnaire. She defeated Katherine A. Fallon of Sacramento on the first ballot, receiving 62 to 19.

The senate today rejected the La Follette amendment to the administration bill which sought to increase surtaxes on small and large individual incomes to raise about $175,000,000 in new revenue. The vote was 62 to 19.

The proposal would have provided a surtax on net incomes ranging from 4 per cent on the first $1000 of income over $3000 to 75 per cent on that portion over $50,000.

The senate adopted the finance committee surtaxes on individual net incomes starting higher levies only on those above $1,000,000. The vote was 49 to 28.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—A gift of about $25,000,000 in June by John D. Rockefeller jr., to unidentified individuals and charitable organizations was reported today by the securities commission.

The gift was dated June 28. President Roosevelt's recommendation for higher taxes on such presentations reached congress June 19.

It consisted of 2,100,000 shares of Socony Vacuum corporation common stock, and it reduced his holdings in this security to 2,815,000 shares.

This followed one made in March of 85,000 shares of the same stock, valued at about $1,000,000 to unnamed educational and scientific corporations.

The recipients were not disclosed in the report made under the securities exchange act.

Reports today and previously show Rockefeller holds various oil securities with a current market value of about $180,000,000.

Besides the 2,815,000 of Socony Vacuum stock as of June 30, he had 1,306,828 common shares of Standard Oil of California as of February 28, 1935, and 2,142,422 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Bodies Charred Beyond Recognition: Ship Hits Cotton Field

GILMER, Tex., Aug. 15. (AP)—Four persons died early today in a trimotor ship of the Delta Airlines that crashed and burned after circling cotton fields in a vain attempt to land safely.

The dead: Andy Dizon of Monroe, La., pilot.

Herbert Bulkley, Dallas, co-pilot.

J. W. Thompson, Atlanta, passenger.

J. A. Ivy, Birmingham, Ala., passenger.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were pulled from the ship by Guy Weldon and Herbert McWhorter, farmers who heard the plane circle over McWhorter's cotton field shortly before the smashup.

Weldon said he heard the roar of the motor and looked up to see the plane drop several fathoms. It circled over the level cotton patch as if to land, and then crashed at about a 20-degree angle with a loud explosion.

The two farmers attempted to kill the fire with sand, but were forced to wait until the flames had subsided sufficient to allow them to pull the charred bodies from the wreckage.

Some mail from the passenger-mail plane, which left Dallas last night for Atlanta, was retrieved before being burned.

Gilmer is in east Texas, about 20 miles northeast of Longview, and near the Louisiana border.

POSTAL WORK BILL SIGNED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the bill providing a 40-hour week for postal employees. Officials expect it to create about 10,000 permanent jobs for men now on the postal "substitute" list.

Mail carriers, clerks, railway mail workers and others in the service will be put on the five-day week, working eight hours a day. Regular postal employees have been working 44 hours a week, with time off for overtime. The 40-hour week will become effective October 1.

FRUIT EXPORT RECORD SET

Shipments to Markets Abroad May Reach 3 Million Boxes

California citrus fruit exports to the European-United Kingdom countries this year already have exceeded the highest previous mark by nearly 1,000,000 boxes and may reach a final total movement of 3,000,000 boxes by October, it was reported today at Los Angeles harbor.

Actual shipments so far this season amount to 2,426,000 boxes. The largest previous total was 1,660,000 boxes, in 1931. Last year's shipments amounted to 1,380,000 boxes.

During this week-end five vessels will load a total of 66,000 boxes, swelling the 2,426,000 total to 2,492,000 boxes. It is expected that similar movements will take place during the next five week-ends.

Oranges made up the largest part of the shipments which have been made through the port this year. Shipments by months to the European-United Kingdom areas have been as follows: January, 156,600 boxes; February, 438,500; March, 156,247; April, 503,000; May, 564,000; June, 633,000; and July, 522,000.

'BED MATES OF DISASTER'

Says Huey of F. D. R., Hoover

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—Senator Huey Long announced today he would be an independent candidate for the presidency in 1936. "If the republicans go Hoover, the democrats go Roosevelt, and there is no other liberal candidate."

The Louisiana political boss called Hoover and President Roosevelt "twin bedmates of disaster."

If some liberal candidate would be chosen by either party, the senator said, "I would support him. But it begins to look like the G. O. P. is being dominated by Mr. Hoover or someone of his calling."

TALK CAUSES STILL MORE PESSIMISM

Premier Laval and Baron Aloisi Confer Over African Programs

LEAGUE THREATENED

War Would Wreck Body, Says French Leader; Parley Due Friday

PARIS, Aug. 15. (AP)—His preliminary work completed, Premier Laval tonight looked forward with little hope of success to tri-power conversations tomorrow on the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

He conferred this afternoon with Anthony Eden, British minister for league of nations affairs, following an earlier talk with Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy.

The talks seemed only to deepen the pessimism of officials.

Premier Mussolini's right-hand man came to the French government head with three arguments:

1. Italy must protect Eritrea and Italian Somaliland against a wild and dangerous nation (Ethiopia) by disarming it;

2. Italy must expand in colonies as Great Britain and France have done;

3. Italy is starved for raw materials and must develop her own supplies.

To these arguments, Laval had the following answer:

1. We would wreck Europe's long drawn out efforts for peace and, possibly, even the League of Nations;

2. War would cost men and money and create hatreds, although Mussolini could attain his desires gradually and peacefully;

3. War would endanger or break the Anglo-Italian control of Europe.

Following his meeting with Aloisi, Laval conferred with his ministry experts, who are preparing arguments and suggestions for further development. He gave them not only the Italian suggestions but also the British as presented to him yesterday by Anthony Eden, British minister for League of Nations affairs.

The British are calling these tri-power conversations "the last peace."

BERLIN JEWS HIDE IN HOMES AS ANTI-SEMITIC DRIVE PUSHED

NAZI LEADER OF PROGRAM IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Jews remained inside their homes today as Julius Streicher, most relentless and energetic of their oppressors, arrived to review at two mass meetings the progress of the Nazis' month old anti-Semitic drive.

As Streicher entered the capital like a crusader, exciting real concern along Jews over what further hate he might engender, official goads against them and Catholics continued in various parts of the reich.

Streicher, publisher of Der Sturmer, was announced as the speaker for a crowd of 20,000 persons tonight in the Sports-Palast, the city's largest assembly hall.

A second address was arranged for an overflow crowd of equal size. Both demonstrations were prepared in an area of which Jews form 21 per cent of the population.

A spirited welcome was given the Nurnberg publisher on the occasion of his carrying the blood purge campaign into the heart of the Ghetto. The city flamed with Red Nazi posters inscribed with the anti-Jewish sentiments that form so important a part of his utterances.

Meanwhile measures against Jews which are gradually eliminating them from business piled up. The Principal Jewish paper, "Israelische Amilenblatt," was ordered suppressed until Nov. 10.

Four Jewish-owned theaters in Hanover were closed by the police after a street demonstration against them.

The mayor of Dortmund issued an order forbidding the Jews either to patronize the municipal pawnshop or attend its auctions. Pawn checks purchased from Jews will be neither renewed nor redeemed, the order provides. Middlemen acting for Jews also will be barred from the auction sales.

RADIO BROADCAST BRINGS ARREST

A police broadcast over station KGHX last night, following a report that a car belonging to Victor Ortiz, Greenville, had been stolen, resulted in the arrest on grand theft charges by Long Beach officers of Mariano Castillo, 48, of 1801 West Second street, Santa Ana. Castillo was driving the car at the time of his arrest at 2 a. m. today.

Castillo told officers he had been picked up by a Buena Park man yesterday afternoon, and that the other man was driving the car at that time. He and the other man then drove to Buena Park and got drunk, he said, telling officers that from that time on his memory as to what took place was a complete blank.

LIONS' PRESIDENT RESIGNS!

And a Good Time Had By All

The president resigned, the program chairman was fired, and the speaker tore up his speech—but it was all just in fun, and members of the Santa Ana Lions club had a roaring good time.

President C. W. Harrison, unable to cope with the general disturbance created by fellow Lions at the club's luncheon in the James cafe, today gave up the gavel and refused to have anything further to do with the club. Program Chairman Vic Walker, after hearing criticism from Earl Abbey, Homer Chaney, Andy Anderson and Burr Shafer concerning past programs, expressed his resignation, and on motion of one of the members in the club, his resignation was demanded.

Lotus Lowden, well known Anaheim publisher, was scheduled to speak today. Several of the Lions made statements to the effect that they had heard Mr. Lowden before, and weren't particularly anxious to hear him again. Several of the members complained that the program chairman must have run out of talent, and suggested that in the future speakers be selected with a little more care.

Without waiting for an introduction, Mr. Lowden arose. Shaking with fury, he denounced the club in general, and Earl Abbey in particular, saying that he had one thing to be thankful for, and that was that Mr. Abbey "handled dead ones and left the live ones alone." He waved several sheets of closely typed paper, explaining that it represented several hours' work, and he'd be "gosh darned if he was going to make a speech" after all of the insults directed at him. With that, Mr. Lowden tore the manuscript, and resumed his seat.

It was all in fun, but some of the members were really worried for a while.

COUNTY EXHIBIT IS GARDEN

Display Going to L. A. Fair

A setting symbolical of a terraced garden, from which rises a stately modernistic facade, will form the nucleus of Orange county's display of agricultural products at the Los Angeles county fair in Pomona and the state fair at Sacramento this year.

Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs today made public a description of the exhibit. The farm products will be displayed in silver-finished trays arranged symmetrically in the garden, which will cover a floor space 20 by 27 feet. The facade will be 19½ feet in height.

Four openings like display windows will be used for exhibits of package products and by-products, to be illuminated by diffused lights. At the base of each of the six tiers of the facade will be cone-shaped boxwood trees covered with crinkled green tinfoil.

A map telling the story of agricultural production and legends telling about the county will be features of the display. The front and back of the exhibit will be covered with oranges, and the garden terraces will be outlined with oranges. The main decorative scheme is silver and green. Flood lights at the front posts will illumine the entire display.

CITY SEEKS TO THREE HUNTED BETTER PARK IN SLAYING

The city of Fullerton, which has been making extensive improvements in its park system in recent years, today had submitted to the Works Progress administration another project for further improvement in Hillcrest park. The estimated cost of the project is $22,631.

Outstanding in the program is an electrically lighted fountain which will be visible from the state highway going past the park.

Other features of the program will be installation of approxi-imately 400 sprinkler heads on lawns, terracing, making rock walls and steps.

The WPA share of the expense will be $17,485 and the city's share, $5146.

WORKERS GET SERA MONEY TOMORROW

Eight hundred relief workers here will begin to receive delayed pay checks tomorrow from the State Emergency Relief administration.

Carl Lindman, SERA paymaster, went to the San Diego distributing office today with the payroll amounting to $15,117.76 and is expected to return late tonight with the checks.

Terrance Halloran, SERA director, said his staff will stay on the job tonight to segregate the checks by projects so that distribution can begin tomorrow.

There are 25 projects on which workers failed to receive their money when it was due last Tuesday. The job of separating the checks according to projects, and also segregating those for workers who have been transferred to other projects, will require several hours, Mr. Halloran said.

A telegram was received this morning at SERA headquarters here, announcing that the $2,000,000 delayed fund had been received at San Francisco from the federal treasury at Washington, and that checks could be drawn against it by disbursing officers. No explanation of the delay in forwarding the money has been received here so far.

Approximately $10,000 of the money is to be used for work relief projects, and $5000 for those on direct relief. The balance of the $30,000 SERA payroll was met last Tuesday, Mr. Halloran said.

William Kreitz of Inglewood was named sergeant-at-arms, defeating Ed W. Boney of Fresno by a vote of 1062 to 990 after Ed Burke withdrew as a candidate.

Fisk Adjutant Again

Rev. D. D. Williams of Madera was unopposed as chaplain. Emmett announced the appointment of James Fisk of Berkeley as department adjutant for the thirteenth year. Tom Wise was appointed assistant adjutant.

The women's auxiliary of the California department, American Legion, also closing its convention elected Mrs. Ethel M. Marsh of Upland as president; Pauline Elison of Long Beach as vice president, and Ethel M. Flynn of Oakland as secretary-treasurer. It will be Mrs. Flynn's tenth year in that office. They were unopposed.

Delegates Named

Mrs. Doris Anderson of Fresno, general chairman of the convention, was elected delegate-at-large to the national convention in a three-cornered contest for the two posts available. Melva Gardner of Turlock was the other successful candidate and Muriel Wright of Saticoy, Ventura county, the third candidate. Alternates elected included Florence Smith of Anaheim. Legionnaires elected their delegates at large to the national convention Tuesday. They are Mayor Z. S. Leymel of Fresno, Don Burbeck of San Anselmo, Joe Lukomski of Los Angeles and M. M. Garrett of Lafayette.

Emmett, known as the "Flying Assemblyman" when he held office in the state legislature, has been serving as chairman of the department's rehabilitation commission. He has been a sponsor for many years of veterans' legislation. He was advanced as a candidate by the Ventura county delegation.

Want Bonus Paid

On the final ballot a switch of 20 votes from Lake, Marin, Solano and Sonoma counties of the fifth district, and a switch of 25 San Francisco votes and 23 from Los Angeles clinched victory for Emmett.

Resolutions passed during the closing hours included one for immediate payment at full face value of veterans adjusted service certificates and remission to veterans of all interest charged against their certificate loans. This resolution was forced from the floor upon motion of Edmund Silverbrand of Fontana.

Another resolution demanded fuller instruction in patriotic courses in public schools, and another commended the American Federation of Labor for its stand against communism.

Defense Measures Urged

Several national defense measures were advocated: Expansion and improvement of air fields, military posts and other coast defenses; increase of the army's peacetime strength; construction of main trunk highways and improvement of California harbors, and increase in the peacetime pensions for men discharged for service disabilities.

A series of 12 resolutions on rehabilitation called for increases in hospital and death benefits, improvements in various veterans' buildings, additional compensation for disabled men, and changes in veterans' welfare procedure.

Washington. Following the meeting Chairman Mitchell announced that Mr. Lyon would accompany him.

The call from Mr. Kemp for representatives of the board to join him was considered an indication that Orange county's application for a federal grant of approximately $7,000,000 to assist the flood control project is being favorably received in the capitol.

It was pointed out that when the first application for Public Works administration financing of the project was taken to Washington by B. A. Etcheverry, member of the board of consulting engineers retained by the county, he sent back for M. N. Thompson, county flood control engineer. That the presence of members of the board of supervisors, only county government representatives who can enter into financial agreements for the county, has been requested in Washington would indicate, county officials pointed out yesterday, that the long campaign for federal assistance is nearing culmination.

Based on Elliott Plan

Under the present set-up the county is seeking assistance in financing the project, based on the Elliott plan through the army engineering board. The switch from PWA to the army was announced several weeks ago by the supervisors who said at that time that the change was made for the purpose of speeding up action on the project.

The present program is to request a federal government loan through the army, to make an outright grant of approximately $7,000,000 for the project with the work to be supervised by army engineers. The balance of the $11,600,000 required to complete the project would be financed through a bond issue.

Approved in S. F.

Under the PWA application the county sought a loan and grant from the government with the voters approving a bond issue to repay the loan and provide the county's share of financing. This application has never been withdrawn but is being held in abeyance pending action on the request through the army engineers.

The army application was approved recently by the division engineer's staff in San Francisco and forwarded to the capitol. At approximately the same time the PWA application also was approved in San Francisco.

SILVER DECLINE IS UNCHECKED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the government was "still buying" silver.

That statement at his press conference followed announcement last night that more than 25,500,000 ounces of the white metal was purchased yesterday in an effort to stem declining prices.

Despite heavy buying by the treasury, the world price continued to decline today.

The senate today added an amendment to the tax bill to repeal sections of the silver purchase act providing for the 50 per cent tax on trading profits, authorizing nationalization of the white metal and requiring licenses for imports and exports.

CAR CATCHES FIRE

The fire department answered a call at 5:30 p. m. yesterday to put out a fire at Bush and Eighth streets. Upon the arrival of the trucks, firemen found that a car belonging to Ralph Baker of 1907 Valencia street had caught fire when gasoline came in contact with the motor. The blaze had been extinguished before firemen arrived.

sented by Charles D. Swanner, Santa Ana, representative from this district on the Legion's Americanism committee.

The resolution, presented only after a heated debate in the committee, read as follows:

"Whereas, the government of soviet Russia has not kept its promises to cease its communistic activities in our country, but has continued such activity with unabated vigor, be it resolved that it is the consensus of opinion of the seventeenth annual convention of the American Legion, department of California, that the United States government withdraw its recognition of soviet Russia."

Preceded by the drum corps which arrived home yesterday morning in the special bus at 2 a. m., almost the entire delegation of Legionnaires arrived in Santa Ana today. George Kellogg and his arrangement committee, that left for the convention before the rest of the drum corps last week, came home Tuesday.

JOHNSON'S WIFE SEEKS MONEY

Mrs. Jessie Elvira Johnson, widow of the late H. Edgar Johnson, former Fullerton publisher, is scheduled to appear before Judge H. G. Ames in department 1, superior court, tomorrow in an attempt to secure a family allowance of $300 monthly from the estate of her late husband. A date for hearing her contest of his will in which he denied her claim as a wife, will be set at the same time.

Mrs. Johnson, in her petition for the $300 monthly allowance, declares that that amount is necessary for the support of herself and 15-year-old daughter, Beverly, whose paternity is denied in the Johnson will. She is asking the court to date the allowance from the time of the late publisher's death, May 16, last.

When Mr. Johnson died, his will disposing of an estate estimated at $100,000 was filed for probate by H. C. Head, named as administrator.

TOWNSEND PLAN APPLIES TO SERMON, SAYS SPEAKER

Declaring that the Townsend principles applied the Sermon on the Mount, the Rev. Rex Barr, organizer of the Long Beach area, addressed a mass meeting of several hundred Townsend club members at the First Christian church last night. The meeting had been sponsored by Townsend club No. 11, under supervision of Grant Henderson, president.

The speaker built his talk on each letter of the word "hope." If the plan was to be successful, members must have harmony, optimism, patience and education, the Rev. Mr. Barr said. These qualities would bring about a national legislation of the Townsend plan, the speaker declared.

George Lee of Long Beach, pipe organist and solo pianist, presided at a group of selections. Herbert F. Kenney led the audience in community singing. The Rev. Mr. Russell sang and quartet numbers were given by the Burke sisters, all under 12 years of age.

Announcement of the homecoming of Dr. F. E. Townsend, founder of the movement, was made for Sunday, August 18 in Hindenburg park, north of Los Angeles near Montrose.

George Misawa, Japanese farmer of the Tustin district, today denied before Judge G. K. Scovel, department 1, superior court, that he maliciously prosecuted Milo R. Payton on a charge of petty theft. He is represented by Attorney Leo B. Fries, and Phillip Schutz of Los Angeles is representing Mr. Payton.

According to Mr. Payton, who is suing for $10,065, Mr. Misawa falsely accused him of stealing a quantity of hay and, on September 23, 1933, caused his arrest on the charge. The charge against him was dismissed December 5, 1933.

PETITIONS NOT NEEDED BY VETS

United Spanish War Veterans were advised this morning by Frank J. Ziegler, department commander, not to file claims for pensions provided for in the bill assuring immediate restoration and prompt payment, signed this week by the president.

Application is not required and will only delay action, the communication from Commander Ziegler to A. H. Hall, commander of Calumet post of Santa Ana, advised.

WETHERELL, WIEMER WIN TENNIS TITLE

Lewis Wetherell and Fred Wiemer won the doubles championship of the Santa Ana Tennis club with a sparkling 6-3, 6-3 victory over Toby White and Kenneth Rammy, defending champions, on the Frances Willard courts yesterday.

Next competition for the four-some and other club members will come in the Citrus Belt tournament here Sunday.

COUNTY VEGETABLE GROWERS FINISH ORGANIZATION

The Orange County Vegetable Growers association is all ready to "go to town."

Today Roland D. Flaherty, farm bureau secretary, said the association has received approval of its articles of incorporation and that a charter has been granted by the secretary of state.

Within four or five days the temporary board of directors will have definite membership and marketing plans to submit to the growers, Mr. Flaherty said.

Clarence Brown of San Juan Capistrano, chairman of the temporary board, is expected to call an organization meeting in the near future. At this session the laws probably will be adopted and a permanent board of directors will be elected.

Mr. Brown is also chairman of the vegetable department of the farm bureau, which assisted in formation of the association.

HOT WEATHER, SWIM IN PRIVATE WATER LAND FOUR IN JAIL

The recent heat wave that hit Orange county, and a desire to keep cool, has resulted in four Anaheim Mexicans being arrested and lodged in the county jail on charges of polluting the water in the irrigation ditch owned by the Anaheim Union Water company.

Last night Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhart and Fred Swaze arrested Manuel Rosales, 27, Roy Torres, 27, and Arturo and Gabriel Burgos on warrants issued by Justice of the Peace Henry Kuchel of Anaheim.

The complaints against the four men had been filed by Walter Parrott, assistant superintendent of the Anaheim Union Water company, when it was learned that the four men had allegedly gone for a swim in the big company ditch near La Habra Sunday. Many ranchers use the water for domestic purposes as well as for irrigation, it was said.

JURY AWARDS $1000 IN $10,366 ACTION

Suing for $10,366.80 for injuries sustained in an automobile accident Jan. 21, last, W. E. Alexander was awarded $1000 by a jury which heard testimony in the case in department 1, superior court. The jury returned its verdict against L. D. Goodyear, defendant, last night after deliberating less than five hours.

Mr. Alexander testified that he was seriously injured when his automobile was involved in a collision with a car driven by Mr. Goodyear, at West Broadway and Clementine street in Anaheim.

SET COUNTY'S WAGE SCALE SEPT. 1

The wage schedule for Orange county agricultural workers will be set on September 1. At that time the arbitration board to which the question has been referred will announce its decision. The board also will decide at that time when the present award will terminate.

No termination date has ever been set for the present wage scale of 22½ cents per hour, according to Stewart Strathman of Placentia, member of the board.

On September 1 the board will convene to reconsider the wage scale in the light of present marketing conditions. Whether it will be changed or not has not been determined. It is understood that the agricultural workers plan to demand 35 cents an hour for a nine-hour day and time and one-half for overtime.

The arbitration board will hold a meeting on August 27, probably in the courthouse, at which both the workers and growers will present data on their cost of living and their cost of production.

Last night the board and a grievance committee of workers met in the city court here to make arrangements for the August 27 meeting. Thomas Barker, labor commissioner and member of the board, said the board recognizes only the Union de Campesinos de Mexicanos because it is the only union signatory to the wage agreement now in force. The board recognizes Lucas Lucio of this city as the representative of alien and all unorganized Mexican labor which agrees to the wage award, he said.

WORK MAY START SOON ON REPAVING TWO STREETS IN ORANGE

ENGINEER IS HIRED BY BOARD

State and Federal Funds Will Be Used on Two Main Arteries

ORANGE.—W. G. Hillyard was employed to act as city engineer to investigate possibilities of the state improving Glassell street and Tustin avenue, through the city, at a meeting of the city council yesterday. Paving may start within a few months, it was decided.

Both streets have been placed on the list of secondary highways in the state. Mr. Hillyard reported that the federal allotment to cities is $1400 per man year, this to be supplemented by state gasoline tax money for the proposed improvement work.

Opening of the new swimming pool has been delayed, due to warm weather preventing laying of tile, it was reported, but the plunge is expected to be open by Monday. Rates were set for admission and decision reached to hire two lifeguards at a salary not to exceed $20 per week each. The council formally adopted the tentative budget for next year, as no protests were received from residents. Another meeting is scheduled for Monday at 1:30 p. m. when figures from the state board of equalization will be presented and the tax rate for the city decided upon.

VETERANS GET CHAIR ROBES

ORANGE.—Mrs. Ruth D. Morris, North Pike street, Gold Star mother, believes in aiding disabled veterans, and does this by piecing and finishing chair robes for invalids at the hospital at Sawtelle. When Santa Ana Veterans Mothers decided to make chair robes, several months ago, Mrs. Morris started to work with a will, and in that time has pieced eight and has finished several of them herself. When one considers that the same robes were finished by the club, including the ones Mrs. Morris made, the size of her task is more apparent.

The robes are made of woolen scraps, lined with outing, and tied to wrap around wheel chair patients to keep off chilling draughts. However, Mrs. Morris did not stop merely with making the robes. She embroidered flowers, scripture references, and in one case a duck hunting scene, on the blocks. She also added handy little pockets and tucked down small gifts in these. Yesterday Mrs. H. P. Christensen of Tustin, Harry D. Edwards of Santa Ana and Mrs. Morris went to Sawtelle to deliver the robes to the hospital.

BEACH MAY ASK OUTSIDE MEALS FEDERAL AID LURE CROWDS

LAGUNA BEACH.—At a meeting of the school board last night, J. E. Allison, architect, recommended that the board petition the federal government to augment recently voted bonds to the extent of 45 per cent, which would allow a total working capital of $100,000 for construction of the new school buildings. Mr. Allison pointed out that an allotment of an additional $45,000 out of the Public Works fund could probably be obtained due to the fact that $55,000 in bonds have already been sold. Other localities, he said, are receiving additional funds from the government where bonds have not been voted or sold.

It was brought to attention of the board that if the extra funds are received a better type gymnasium could be built, including structural steel construction for safety in event of earthquake. Likewise, a cafeteria and art room were mentioned as possibilities.

Earl M. Hathaway and G. E. Thompson presented a plan to build a hall for local Boy Scouts with Girl Scouts also to be allowed to use the building. The board accepted the proposal subject to obtaining title and lease to the property. Aubrey St. Claire was suggested as architect and Sam Smith builder for the project.

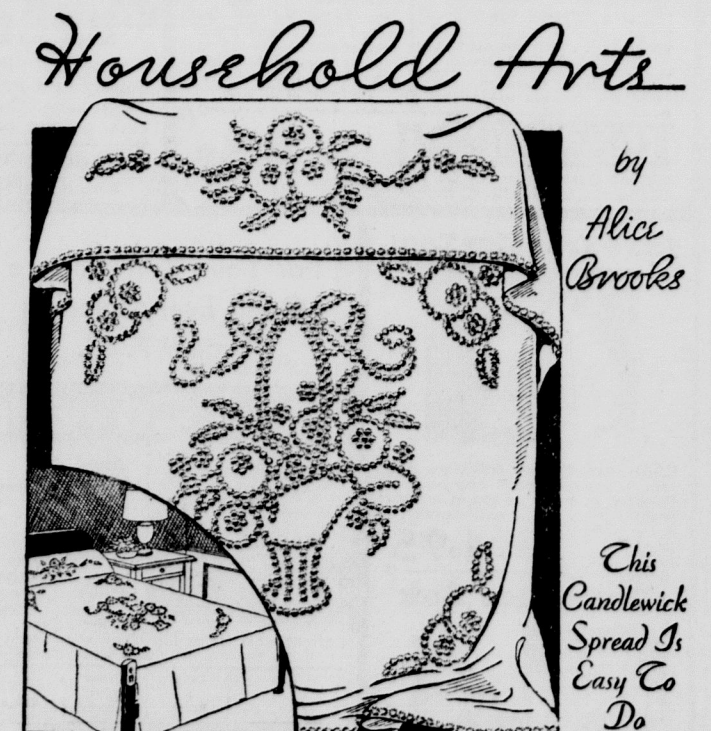

A. J. Stead presented a plan for the proposed new tennis court. The board accepted the plans and voted to advertise for bids. Cabinet work bids were opened and that of Jules Merkel for $2568 was accepted.

Whether yours is a stately Colonial four-poster or just a bed, the rich simplicity of this candlewick spread will heighten the charm of your bedroom. No doubt you've admired these spreads in the stores, but probably never dreamed how easy they are to make, nor that you'd be making one yourself someday. Worked with candlewick, you'll be surprised how much fluffier the tufts become with every tugging. The same design may also be carried out with French knots using a finer thread and putting the knots closer, as described in the directions. The large flower basket motif is equally effective used alone in the center of the spread, or together with the corner and bolster designs contained in a separate pattern. Dresser scarfs and a pillow for that comfy boudoir chair may be trimmed with this design too.

In pattern 5402 you will find a transfer pattern of a basket 15x20 inches; directions and illustrations for doing candlewicking or French knots; material requirements. Price of pattern 10 cents.

INSTRUCTOR IN ROTARY TALK

FULLERTON.—Telling of two great services which the newspaper brings to a community, Goodenow, instructor of journalism at U. S. C., was speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Fullerton Rotary club here yesterday.

The newspaper is a community enterprise and enters into the civic development of its town, he pointed out. He told of aid given to merchants in building a better and larger business, of assistance toward cooperation between merchants and improvement of policies in retail buying and selling.

Mr. Goodenow told early history of the business, showing its growth to the institutions of today which use wire services to bring the latest news to readers, and how photographers are sent almost instantly by wire.

In explaining value of advertising, the speaker said that 70 per cent of buyers have no choice between merchants, showing the need of a businessman to take advantage of this method of increasing his business. Advertising has unlimited possibilities, he said, with the fault now being too little preparation and thought regarding copy, a general lack of budgeting for advertising needs. Harry May presided at the meeting.

RELIEF CORPS HOLDS MEETING AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—The Woman's Relief Corps met at the Community clubhouse recently. After routine business, Mrs. Johnson of Westminster gave a reading, followed by an impromptu program by members of the corps. Members of the Aloha Rebekah lodge of this district held a cooked food sale at the community clubhouse on Tuesday.

L. Cramer, presided. W. H. Webb, vice president, and Mrs. Laura Wightman of the Long Beach club on opposing sides won the honors. Forty-two persons entered the contest.

Twenty members of the Long Beach club were present with the president, Samuel Smith, who invited Garden Grove members to attend a meeting in the beach city auditorium August 28 when Dr. Townsend and Congressman John Steven McGroarty will speak.

SAN CLEMENTE.—Ground has been broken and the foundation will be laid this week for the first house to be built here in six years.

The FHA, through the Bank of America, recently made a loan to Elizabeth Johnston, superintendent of a Chicago hospital, and her sister, Thelma H. Johnston, registered nurse of Riverside, to build a $4000 home.

The business meeting was followed by a program under direction of Mrs. Harry Skiles and included a violin solo by Miss Laura Friedrich, accompanied by Mrs. Skiles, and piano solos by Elaine Dollard. John Skiles sang, accompanied by his mother.

SAME OFFICERS FOR GROWERS

GARDEN GROVE.—Due to failure of members of the Garden Grove Growers association to attend the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon in sufficient numbers to constitute a quorum, all directors of the association will hold over another year, in accordance with by-laws of the group. A meeting will be held later to select officers due to the absence of one of the directors.

The present officers and directors are Edward Chaffee, president; William S. Preston, vice president; W. A. Adland, secretary; Donald McMillan and J. A. Knapp.

Work at the home is expected to start about the first of September, it was announced, and the crop is expected to be about the same as last year, when 35,000 sacks were handled. The hot and weather of the last week may change this estimate, officials said.

SUNDOWN STORIES

EXPLANATION

By Mary Graham Bonner
"You have come to see a magician," the magician spoke. "When I heard you calling me about your ears after you were in the house I was looking for the extra pair I had."

"An extra-pair ears?" asked Christopher Columbus Crow in surprise. "I discover things but this is beyond me."

"Just as Willy Nilly was about to look in the mirror," said the magician, "I attached the extra ears over his own. I did it so quickly that you did not notice it. Then, when he turned around I took them off again. So all of you were right in what you saw."

New Ear on Hand
"Doing tricks is my business. All sorts of magic tricks, but I cannot give you a really new pair of ears."

"Maybe you could give us the extra pair so Willy Nilly could wear them for dress-up occasions?" suggested Mrs. Quacko Buck.

The magician looked very doubtful. "It's one of my tricks," he said, "and a very popular one. You see there are times when I show my rabbit or my cat and then suddenly I say—"

"Why, little pussy cat you have ear like a little boy," or "Bunny, what are you doing with that extra pair of ears on yours?"

There's Pussy Cat
"I can see you would not be able to part with any of the properties for your tricks," Willy Nilly said.

"Oh, my," said the magician quickly, "there's my pussy cat right back of you, Mrs. Duck."

She turned and saw the cat, but in another moment the cat was perched on Willy Nilly's shoulder. This was certainly a strange house.

Balboa Island's Saturday night programs are creating a great deal of interest. "A Night in Venice" is a good idea for such an affair, with scullers—no, scullers are gals who work in kitchens, aren't they?—with poles poing boats around the island while others sing and play. I suppose if the poles tried to scull the boat, it might upset, maybe. Skull-duggery might be indicated.

Having gone so far as upsetting the unhappy boatload in the bay, it doesn't seem fair to go away and leave 'em, with, perhaps, the impression that they're all wet, because they aren't. From all we've heard, the programs are very fine, and draw large crowds who venture out on poles and line the waterfront to hear the music and watch the sculler's skill—that is, watch the poles prayerfully paddle.

J. A. Beek and Antonio Mellillo are planning another affair soon. C'mon down next time. Can't guarantee any scullers as they use motorboats, but the music is wonderful, anyway.

Boy Scouts are going to jam Fullerton with their jamboree August 30.

They call it a Court of Honor, and the youngsters are given awards that they have worked for during the past three months. The last such event was held in Placentia. Alvin Koenig was in charge, and instead of just having a speaker and handing out medals and such, he let the boys put on most of the program.

The grand finale was a pie-eating contest. Blackberry pie. Some of the kids were sorta tired of pie before the thing was over and the winner didn't seem to appreciate the first prize, which was another luscious plate of pastry. Imagine however, that he had lots of help from his fellow troopers in doing away with the award.

Some of the boys offered vaudeville acts that almost brought down the house. Harrison White was bested in a fire-making contest with a younger Scout, and all-in-all, a wonderful time was had. It's not all fun, either. You'll gain a different idea of youth, perhaps, to see some shiny-faced kid, dressed up in his uniform, gulp to hide his emotion when the Big Shot hands out the shiny medal or badge that shows how hard he's worked.

Fullerton's park will make a fine place for the next affair. Parents and visitors are more than welcome. Take the hint and get an idea of what the unsung Scout-masters are doing for their boys.

Balboa really needs an airplane law, like Costa Mesa has. The army, or navy, or whoever it was, had everybody stretching their necks down there yesterday. Strict interpretation of the Costa Mesa edict might not work with these aviators, however, as they weren't flying low—they were flying foolish.

And, while on the subject, how're they going to enforce that law in Costa Mesa? Will they

Plans Ready for $52,000 Seal Beach Disposal Project, Report

SEAL BEACH.—With final legal complications removed, bids on Seal Beach's new $52,000 sewage disposal plant will be asked at the city council meeting tonight. Newspaper advertisements in accordance with the law have been executed, which leaves the governing body free officially to consider bids on the proposition.

Every detail of the new plant is ready to proceed. The city recently voted a $40,000 bond issue to be spent for construction and a grant of $12,000 has been approved by PWA officials. F. S. Curry, PWA Bernardino consulting engineer, has prepared plans and specifications. Additional land for the plant was acquired a short time ago.

The sewage system is one of three major projects being pushed by city officials of Seal Beach at this time. Money for an $82,000 breakwater at the western entrance of Anaheim Landing bay, and a $30,000 water system were also voted at the bond election. The city will pay $60,000 toward construction of the breakwater, and PWA will provide the rest as a cash grant.

A new application for a 45 per cent grant from PWA for more funds to construct the water works has been filed by city councilmen and City Attorney Burr A. Brown.

Property owners of Seal Beach will have a final chance to protest over city assessments and taxes tomorrow at 10 a. m. when the city council meets as a board of equalization. The board has met each day this week, and Friday is the last day. Final judgments will be given. During the week, but one protest has been heard by the board, Mayor Elmer J. Hughes said today.

COURT HALTS PADLOCKING OF ANOTHER TIDELANDS OIL WELL

HEARING SET FOR RULING IN CASE

Agreement With State to Tap Pool Cited by Venton Firm

Another temporary injunction was granted by Presiding Judge James L. Allen of superior court yesterday in the litigation that has arisen over padlocking of 18 oil wells at Huntington Beach by state officials.

The temporary injunction was in response to a plea by the Venton Oil company that Carl B. Sturzenacker, chief of the state division of lands; Arlin E. Stockburger, state director of finance; and Arthur H. Alexander, state petroleum production inspector, be permanently enjoined from setting or enforcing production quotas, interfering with the operation of oil wells, padlocking or guarding the well, and from trespassing on company property.

Hearing August 26

Hearing on whether or not the temporary restraining order shall become permanent was set for August 26, before Superior Judge C. K. Seovel. Similar actions filed by the Ambassador Petroleum corporation, Wilshire Oil company, Fortuna Oil company and the Petroleum corporation, all operators of wells tapping the tidelands oil pool in Huntington Beach, will be heard at the time the Venton application is given a ruling.

As in all the other suits the action started by the Venton company alleges that the company was operating a well tapping the state-owned tidelands pool prior to March 1, 1934. On that date the company entered into an agreement with the state whereby it would be a well to produce oil from the pool for 20 years, upon payment of one-fifth royalty.

'No Limitation'

Under this contract the company asserts it has the right to produce oil from the pool without limitation by state quotas. When the producers refused to observe a production quota set for July and August, the well was padlocked. According to the complaint Mr. Sturzenacker arbitrarily ruled that the Venton well had potential production of 420 barrels of crude oil daily and set the allowable production at 157 barrels. On August 1, another order set the potential production at 410 barrels daily and the allowable at 127.

These quotas, the complaint asserts, were not set by Mr. Sturzenacker but by the central committee of California Oil Producers which, the Venton company charges, is dominated by two major oil companies held to be "bitter business enemies" of the operators whose wells were padlocked.

Anaheim People Really Use Their Park, Record Kept by Officials Shows

(This is the ninth of a series of articles having to do with the establishment and development of the Anaheim city park, one of the outstanding cultural and recreational institutions of Southern California. The series is intended to be informative to those cities which do not enjoy park facilities. Santa Ana is listed in the latter classification.)

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Anaheim people really use and enjoy their municipal park.

One visit on a summer day would prove that, but attendance figures kept by park authorities show even more strikingly how large a place the recreation center fills in the lives of residents in the Mother Colony.

Probably visitors from other communities help to swell the totals, but that doesn't seem to worry Anaheim, for the park is one of its best advertisements.

57,769 Recorded Visitors

A little "horseback" mathematics shows that every resident of Anaheim enjoyed some phase of the park five or six times in the period between June 28 and August 1.

The total recorded attendance during that period was 57,769. Assuming that only Anaheim residents used the park, and assuming again that the city's population is about 11,000, that would give each citizen approximately five visits. Change the population total 1000 either way and the result would not be changed very much.

At any rate a park that attracts 56,000 people in a month means something to the city that owns it.

The picnic grounds hold the record for the largest attendance. Altogether, 16,279 persons enjoyed picnic dinners there during the month.

Picnic Grounds Busy

The plunge ran a close second, with a total attendance of 12,645, of which approximately 3000 were in swimming classes, which are conducted both for adults and children.

Next came the Greek theater, where 9700 persons enjoyed entertainments or attended meetings.

Playground Popular

The playground for small children had an attendance of 8482, while that for larger ones attracted 6987. If these two playground totals are combined, this feature of the park would run second to the picnic grounds, with a total of 15,469.

The night baseball games attracted 2050 adults and 1646 children. Many of the youngsters under 15 years of age belong to the "knot hole gang" organized in 1932 by Victor Rudy, one of the fathers of nightball at Anaheim. The "knot hole gang" goes to the games free, provided they don't cause any trouble.

WATER TESTED TWO PROJECTS FOR MINERAL GOING TO WPA

* W. C. Mauerhan of Katella reported yesterday to the board of directors of the Orange county water district on tests of Santa Ana river water for mineral content. Tests were made at eight points and showed salts in varying amounts, from 2.82 parts per 1000 to 7.34 parts per 1000.

The following results were obtained from the tests: At the Haladay water plant, 4.99; across the river, 7.34; just below the intake of the Santa Ana Irrigation company canal, 4.82; Anaheim Union Water company head gate, higher up the river, 2.82; frog pond just below the Durkee ranch, 5.92; Reynolds slough, 4.94; Amner ranch, 2.82; Peckley bridge, 5.99. A test near Garden Grove showed 5.16.

The survey was made as part of a study to show indications of return irrigation in the river water.

Extension of South Main street from Palisades road to Coast boulevard was one of the two projects approved yesterday by the board of supervisors for submission to the Works Progress administration. The second project was the Costa Mesa storm drain project. The storm drain project will cost approximately $24,000.

Cost of the South Main street extension under WPA will be approximately $144,000, with the county being required to provide 20 per cent of the amount. The actual cash cost of the project to the county, however, will be $9000. The balance will be made up in equipment furnished for the project and other items provided by the county.

Accidents in the home killed 245 Kansas residents the first half of 1935, while only 88 deaths were due to industrial accidents.

AMES' CHANCE FOR JUDGE POST DIM

In the near future, when President Roosevelt signs a bill creating two new federal judgeships in Los Angeles, the question of appointments will be decided largely upon the recommendations of California's two senators, in the opinion of local politicians. This question has aroused a great deal of interest in Orange county, due to the fact that Superior Judge Homer G. Ames has definitely announced that he is a candidate for one of the positions.

It is generally believed that President Roosevelt will make his appointments to the federal judgeships comply with the recommendations of Senator Hiram Johnson and William Gibbs McAdoo, respectively. If this is the case, the chances are that Judge Ames will be left out, it was predicted today. This statement was based on a well-founded rumor brought here from Los Angeles by Paul Witmer, former mayor of Santa Ana, and a friend and supporter of Judge Ames.

Mr. Witmer reports that in Los Angeles it is generally believed Senator Johnson will recommend his former campaign manager, Pat Daugherty, well-known Los Angeles attorney. Senator McAdoo in all probability will recommend Judge Albert Lee Stephens of Los Angeles.

Friends of Judge Ames feel that one of the new judges should be chosen from outside of Los Angeles county.

45 ATTRACTED TO BOOK REVIEW TEA

Leaders for the day were Tom Letto, William Waddell, Larry Wicks and Frank Baldwin. Tea was served by a committee including Mrs. Herbert Birt, chairman, Mrs. Ralph Baker, Mrs. Alice McGill, Miss Calora Morley and Betty McNeill.

On the musical program were violin selections by Marjorie Keeler from the Elwood Bear studio, Miss Naomi Sands sang during the tea, presenting Grieg's "Ich Liebedich" and "By the Bend of the River."

SIR CHARLES PLANS LAST AIR STUNT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15. (AP)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, who has known what it meant to be cheered by confetti-throwing crowds and likewise has been a "forgotten man," is to retire from active flying—after he makes one final gesture in the aviation world, a flight from England to Australia.

"I've reached that age," said Sir Charles, conqueror of oceans and continents in airplanes, today, "where 7000 flying hours in 19 years beckon me to take my place in the development work in the interest of mail and passenger air service."

Sir Charles, in 1928, with C. P. T. Ulm, later lost at sea while on a flight from Pacific coast to Hawaii, and Harry Lyon, startled the world with a trans-Pacific flight in an old Fokker plane, the Southern Cross, from Oakland to Australia.

Financial reverses later beset the flier and in November, 1934, apparently in an effort to capitalize on the feat, he flew from Australia to Oakland. He was feted and cheered in Oakland and Los Angeles—and later, in Los Angeles, his new plane, "Lady Southern Cross," was attached.

Sir Charles had hoped to fly back to Australia, but he found that fame and glory often bring little cash. He sailed for Australia, virtually broke.

Then, the Australian government came to his aid by giving him $15,000 for his "Southern Cross," which was placed in a museum.

SOUTH COAST WATER ROW PATCHED

The water problem of the South Coast county water district was solved today—at least temporarily. The district has been using water exported by Laguna Beach from the Orange county water district; but since most of the south coast district is outside the county district, this export has been more or less frowned upon. The county district is not supposed to export water.

However, the county district's board of directors yesterday gave their tacit consent to continuation of the practice. The whole matter was referred to the board's legal committee with instructions to work out a contract providing for use of not more than 90 acre feet per year. The district has actually been using 22 acre feet.

A. W. Rutan, the board's attorney, reported yesterday he had found an almost identical situation in a case wherein the state supreme court approved such an export of water. The contract, when framed, will be subject to cancellation on 90 days notice. Elmer Crawford, spokesman for the south coast district, told the board at its Garden Grove meeting yesterday that the district is negotiating with the San Juan water district for a possible merger which would make water available from the San Juan watershed.

Repealing of Old Ordinance Saves County $100

Orange county saved $100 yesterday because the board of supervisors repealed an old ordinance several years ago. F. R. Koontz of Fullerton lost $100 for the same reason.

In a letter from the Sunny Hills ranch read at the board meeting yesterday, Grant Phillips, manager of the ranch, informed the supervisors that on July 30, last, Mr. Koontz discovered two thieves stealing oranges from a Sunny Hills grove. He notified Fullerton police who captured Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kronheimer. Mr. Phillips said he understood the county pays a reward of $100 for the capture of orange thieves and that the reward should go to Mr. Koontz.

The letter was referred to Assistant District Attorney W. F. Menton who informed the board that the reward ordinance was no longer in effect.

PROTEST FIVE DENY CHANGES IN FIRE PLAN

Five property owners who assertedly are taking water from within the Orange county water district and using it outside the district will be served with formal notices of protest from the water district's board of directors.

The board authorized this action yesterday at its meeting in the Garden Grove chamber of commerce after W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor, reported on a boundary survey of the district, which showed that the five property owners assertedly are taking water from the district.

Included in the list to which protests will be sent are the Irvine company, with five acres of truck crops and six acres of citrus groves outside the district; the Bixby ranch, with 37 acres of truck crops; the Holy Sepulchre cemetery near Irvine park; Ray Lambert, with 20 acres of papayas near Tomato Springs, and Ben Yonah, with 14.6 acre grove of young lemon trees and another grove of 27.84 acres to which

Acting on the recommendation of Supervisor Willard Smith, the board of supervisors yesterday declined to recommend to the National Forest Service any changes in fire protection measures now in force in the national forest area.

The board had been asked to indorse a request that the forest service plan execute a demonstration to prove the efficiency of wide, burned-off firebreaks in comparison with the present system of narrow breaks and motorways through the danger zone.

The proposed change is being sponsored by mountain residents and owners of large ranch property near the Cleveland National forest.

The matter was referred to Supervisor Smith last week for a report and recommendation. He said yesterday that regardless of the merits of the program, the board of supervisors should not

West of 1210 North Ross street, entertained last evening with a supper and dancing party at the Clyde Deardorff ranch on South McClay street.

Bright colored tablecloths and potted plants and service lent color to the supper hour. Afterward, Gene Thomas arrived at the ranch with a wagon and took the guests for a hayride to his ranch, adjoining the Deardorff place, where they danced in a large barn the Thomases and Deardorffs have arranged as a sort of recreation center. Glenn Evans' orchestra music was featured.

Talks to Parents

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Near Sighted

There were a number of girls in the little town of X who were known as "queer." No one accused them of mental queeriness of any kind. They were intellectually rather outstanding than otherwise. At school they were known as highbrows, but they had no friends among the other children. Their ages varied, their backgrounds were not alike, and they were attracted to look at, and eager to be friendly, but all were unable to make good with their contemporaries.

A group of older women, comparing notes on the subject, one day analyzed the situation very carefully. They found that these girls all had one peculiarity in common—they were very near-sighted and would not wear glasses.

Results Same
The results were the same in every case. However much they wished to be friendly and outgoing, they could not see even Characters of a half-century ago were revived for members of Torosa Rebekah lodge last night when past noble grands presented "The Old Family Album" as the program for the meeting, held in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Sedate old maids, fussy bachelors, the baby in his high chair, the wedding couple, the town flirt, and other typical figures of the '80s took their stand in the old-fashioned gift frame to make a page of the book.

The narration was read by Mrs. Fanny M. Lacy, chairman of the program.

Forty-seven past noble grands were introduced, representing district No. 50, and Fullerton, Orange, Sycamore, Anaheim and Torosa chapters.

Audria Fey whistled several selections, accompanied by Adeline Harrell.

Previous to the program, a pot-luck dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. Tables were banked with garden shrubs and ferns, simulating the green background of a garden. Mrs. Edna Kinsella was in charge of the dinner committee.

Mrs. Dora Morrow, past noble grand, presided during the installation of Mrs. William Garvin to the post of noble grand, district deputy president, and the installing officer. Two complimentary bouquets were presented Mrs. Garvin, whose installation was held separately since she was in the east when installation rites were conducted for the other officers.

Mrs. Lillie Triplett of Fort Morgan, Colo., was a guest at the meeting. Attendance numbered more than 150 members.

W. E. R. CRAWFORDS TO MOVE TO RANCH

Santa Ana's parent-teacher movement is to lose one of its most progressive leaders this week. Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford, president of the city council of parents and teachers for two years just previous to her retirement in June, is moving with her husband and son to their new ranch home near Fontana.

Former residents of 415 South Broadway, the Crawfords have taken a 60-acre plot on the Lytle creek road, between Etiwanda and Fontana on the road to Glen Ranch. In the heart of the grape raising country, the ranch will be developed for vineyard culture, and the Crawfords plan to raise a small stock of chickens and rabbits.

Mr. and Mrs. James Quinn plan to take their house at 415 South Broadway.

Mary Stoddard Lasting Love Is Based on Natural Attraction Instead of Planned Artifice and Guile

BY MARY STODDARD
If love is only a game, and you can't hold the one you love without studying a book of rules that sets forth ways to stimulate affection, then love is anybody's sport and the cleverest player wins.

Every young man or woman who is in love should ever bear in mind that the spiritual closeness which draws two people together and builds walls to shut the others out, promoted by rote.

As I read these love letters I often wonder why so many lovers pose or wish to pose. Of course, it is natural when one is in love to put his best foot forward.

Probably the truth is that there aren't many people who really love each other. There are very few people who can be real with each other. No wonder marriage floats away like a balloon going to sea when it is built on a superficial structure.

So comes a request in the morning mail from a girl of 22 who is in love and wants to land her catch and she wants me to give her some rules on how to look, how to act and what to say in order to appear mysterious and subtle. Alas—I cannot tell her any more than I can tell any other lovelorn miss or swain how to land that matrimonial "catch."

Here is her letter:
Dear Miss Stoddard: I cannot embarrass myself by taking my problem to anyone else. I've read your answers and you must be wise, so I've decided that you alone can help me.

During my vacation I met a naval officer who is several years older than I am, my age being 22. Now I would know exactly how to handle the young men in my own set to get a proposal of marriage. In fact, so you will know that I'm not boasting, I've already received proposals from young men who are considered good catches.

But this young man is different. He's charming and sort of reserved. If you know what I mean, you can't tell what he is thinking about, but I'm sure he thinks of me often. He treats me like I am a princess when we are together, and if we are at the same social function I catch his eyes wandering in my direction frequently with what I would call a look of admiration.

I'm sure that he is the first man I've really ever loved and I want him to be the only one. Please, Miss Stoddard, give me some rules or tips on how I can draw out his thoughts and make him really love me as I've grown to love him. Thanks a million times for your help.

I wish it were possible to impress upon this lass and all others in the same boat that love is not a solid quantity which, once procured, can be put away like an heirloom bracelet. It is an untouchable quality that sings, beats, weeps its way through everything you do or say. It glorifies lives that are a monotone and adds more beauty to those that already hold loveliness.

But love isn't worth a nickel unless it is so real that there is an understanding between two people such that each one is peculiarly aware of the other's silent reactions, each one understands when there might be irritants in the relationship, and each possesses a profound, unshakable belief in the other's integrity.

There is one rule which will apply to courtship and marriage as it does in everything else. Good taste is inherent. Consideration, courtesy, thoughtfulness, sympathy, companionship, understanding, a community of problems and a mutual sharing of problems and applause—these are the stones in the foundation of lasting marriages.

To follow your own natural pattern will bring the only real results. Pretending to like avocado pears, when you really hate them, just to "make a hit" with the one you love, will do nothing at all to help the budding romance bloom in profusion.

No Movies For Dionne Quints, Says Doctor

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 15. (AP)—Dr. Allan R. Drafce has told Hollywood "nothing doing" in response to overtures to have the Dionne quintuplets appear as costars with Harold Lloyd in a film.

The physician, who is one of the legal guardians of Callander's most famous children, confirmed reports Hollywood was seeking the services of the quintuplets, but said a contract which nets them a lucrative income covers all picture rights.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Desperate, almost starving, Laurie has posed as Rex Moore's widow in order to support herself. But Rex returns unexpectedly after two years, and now Laurie must keep up her deception, or risk costing Rex his job with Mark Albery. The airplane manufacturer, Rex tells Laurie that he must fly to the rescue of two airmen, presumably lost in Africa.

Chapter XVI

GLADYS ARRIVES

The arrival of her sister Gladys was a relief as well as a joy to Laurie.

She found herself incomprehensibly anxious for Rex Moore's safety.

In her two years' work at Albery's she had heard so much more than the general public of accidents, minor and major. She had been stupid from surprise when she asked him whether his flight over Central Africa to search for the missing airmen was dangerous. She knew it was. All long-distance flights were dangerous.

But she could not understand why she felt as she did. She reasoned with herself. It was nothing to her, no more than any other airman doing his job. He had gone out of his way to be heroic to her as long as it suited him. Why should she worry about him?

In a few days, however, she found something more definite to worry about.

It began when the first excitement of having Glad with her had worn off; of waiting on her, of ordering her favorite meals, of showing her off to the admiring Mrs. Budd. Then, she began to notice a change in the girl.

It was what she had seen in Liverpool at Easter, only more definite.

Glad seemed older, not so transparently simple, not so childishly easily excited, as if she were expecting something. Dashing to the door when the postman came, to the telephone when it rang.

Besides, she seemed to have "shut herself up," as Laurie called it. She did not talk all the time about her dancing, and the other girl and "old Carstairs," the manager of the troupe.

But how lovely she was! It was the Saturday after her arrival when the doubt first came into Laurie's mind, when she had met her sister for lunch at a little cheap foreign restaurant in Soho.

How she sat, smiling her indescribable baby smile, as if knowing that everybody was looking at her. In that thin navy-blue silk two-piece, with the ivory scarf, and the tiny navy knitted silk cap on her glorious blonde curls, sheer sunshine gold on top, darker underneath. With her grey-blue eyes and jet-black curling lashes, and her warm peach-bloom skin, and her lovely mouth that no lipstick could spoil.

Yes, Glad was exquisite, as near physical perfection as a girl could be. But all of a sudden, and for the first time, Laurie felt that Glad knew it.

"What a pretty pin, Glad," said Laurie, as the younger girl daintily touched a slender bar of platinum, with little blue stones set in it, from her scarf and fastened it into her coat. "You are an extravagant kid! It looks as if it cost a heap of money."

"It was a present," Glad replied care

INVESTING IN CITIZENSHIP

THE VOICE of Santa Ana appears to have been heard. The city wants adequate park facilities and the newly appointed park commission is to be congratulated in making an initial step toward providing them. What park sites are available and what the city can afford to pay is a question yet to be worked out, but the will to do has been manifested and after that the way is largely a matter of good judgment.

Councilman Ernest Layton, alert to the needs of the city, has focused attention on the advisability of making a start. His colleagues on the park commission have voted with him and the result is a decision to make a survey as to what sites may be obtained, what the city can afford to pay and how best the project can be financed.

It has been interesting to Journal readers to note the seeming consensus favoring an expenditure of money for park purposes. Each day The Journal publishes a little column known as "Meet Your Neighbor." In it those interviewed are asked to express what, in their opinion, does Santa Ana need most. While no compilation of answers to this question has been made, we think it safe to say a majority have agreed that a park worthy the name and adequately appointed, is the city's greatest need.

Anaheim's great park has attracted the attention of thousands of tourists and daily is the mecca for hundreds of our own people. Anaheim got the idea a little earlier and set about its job without making much noise about it. The city is very proud of its splendid asset today and in a neighborly fashion, shares its blessing with its neighbors. It is hardly fair for a city as rich as Santa Ana to everlastingly impose upon Anaheim without offering something in return.

The work of the park commission should have the support of every good citizen. We can do without a lot of things, but the cultural advantages of a well-conducted park and its appointments, might profitably be our next big undertaking. It seems to us it would be an investment in good citizenship.

It appears the police may not let that Hollywood doctor freeze a human being, but there are two or three movie stars we'd be glad to have him put on ice for an indefinite time.

A VOTE OF GENERAL DISAPPROVAL

THE THOROUGHGOING manner in which California voters blackballed the three proposed constitutional amendments in Tuesday's election indicates, to our way of thinking, something more than mere disapproval of the specific measures. It sounded more like the ballot box equivalent of a Bronx cheer directed toward the reigning regime at Sacramento.

The legislature's many muddled months of session produced a hodge-podge of measures, a makeshift set of new and heavy taxes. It resulted incidentally in the submission of the three propositions, not too well drafted, nor sufficiently explained. Neither in the halls of senate or assembly nor in the governor's office was the leadership inspiring or inspired during the legislative meeting nor later in presenting the special election issues.

The Journal is unwilling to construe the defeat of proposition No. 1 as meaning that the people of this state do not recognize their responsibility for providing more adequate quarters for the increasing number of mentally ailing persons and prisoners nor as a downright refusal to do it. Californians are still humane.

Nor do we believe the still heavier majority rolled up against proposition No. 2 means that Californians oppose economy in the handling of their finances. Rather, they turned down the borrowing plan because they feared it would be abused by those in authority.

Neither was the Rector dam project embodied in proposition No. 3 turned down on its merits as a water development plan for three state institutions. Rather it was rejected as a gesture of general dissatisfaction with the way affairs have been run at Sacramento.

All three measures were beaten, not so much because of what they provided, as an inarticulate reproof for the powers which placed them on the ballot.

A news item reports that the world's best limericks have been collected and published. We don't believe it. They may have been collected, but not published.

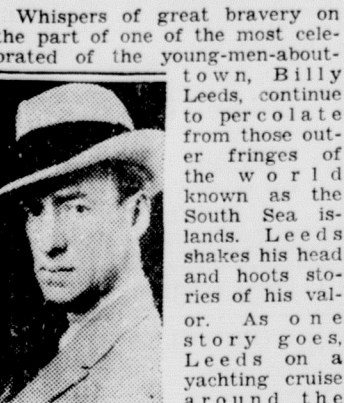

SIXTY YEARS AT A DESK

CHARLES K. McCLATCHY, editor and publisher of The Sacramento Bee, comments on an item in "Editor and Publisher" on the 50th anniversary of Capt. J. Walker Ross as an editorial worker for the New Orleans States and announces with pardonable pride that he has been on the job just 10 years longer.

"In July, 1875," he writes, "one 'C. K.' was put to work by his father on The Sacramento Bee not only as an editorial paragrapher but as editorial writer. He was then less than 17 years of age. Such a trust certainly must have been more an evidence of parental affection than of journalistic judgment. However, the son went to work then in an editorial capacity. That was over 60 years ago, and he has not swerved therefrom since."

Today at 76 Mr. McClatchy wields his pen as vigorously as ever. He wields it for Roosevelt and the New Deal, for public ownership and against public utilities in politics, for the Yreka lynching and against a pardon for Mooney, for prison terms and even lamp posts for reds, against the league of nations and foreign entanglements. It is always fun to read him even when you violently disagree because he is one of the last of the old-time editors who mixed personal whim with conviction and said what they thought in a highly personal way.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Whispers of great bravery on the part of one of the most celebrated of the young-men-about-town, Billy Leeds, continue to percolate from those outer fringes of the world known as the South Sea islands. Leeds shakes his head and hoots stories of his valor. As one story goes, Leeds on a yachting cruise around the world stopped off at one of the remote islands.

It was such an idyllic dot in a far-away world that a stay of two days was extended into several weeks and Leeds became very popular with the Polynesians. So much so he was made an honorary member of the tribe, fished and swam with them. He arrived only a short while before an annual three-day tribal celebration and was imported to remain and be inducted into the ceremonies.

He yielded before he had learned that the chief of the ceremony led up to a religious frenzy that was climaxed by self torture. Leeds, drawn into the mess, determined to see it through and did. Among the agonies he endured, it is said, was the tattooing of a tiger's head on his chest with a shark's tooth.

I had a closeup of New York's notorious vice queen, Polly Adler, recently in court. She was the personification of the fabbed glossy lady dressed in the Broadway-smart fashion, reeking of beauty parlor ministrations and a voice with the thin husk that suggests cigarettes, raw gin and late hours. In the background of every enameled lady's life is almost invariably the city figure to whom the woman pays and pays and pays. There's something pathetic the way their dominant affections are always misplaced. Invariably generous, their windup follows a set pattern—broke, friendless, a cell. Polly was no exception.

And they were talking at Joe Moore's of a flashy lady who appears at the Colony now and then with heavily kohl'd eyes and the goriest nails to date. The modern maid! Yet Moore brought out Chateaubriand's "Literary from Paris to Jerusalem" writer and 1868 and read this: "The women of Athens have adopted the custom of painting around their eyes in blue . . . and the ends of their fingers red." Thus the gals are 129 years behind the times!

Jack Curley's wrestling matches bring in the most thoroughly masculine crowd the metropolis offers. They come to see a human massacre and anything short of violent torture inspires the rousing razz. In the smoky haze, fetid with alcoholic fumes, many suggest those shadowy, brutal figures of the George Bellows fight pictures. Hairy, leering, bull-necked. Between bouts they devour uncooked hamburger sandwiches, swig from jagged necks of knocked-off bottles and constantly poke scrap tobacco into their jaws. Every wrestling match brings out its cry of "fake!" But biting ears and fingers until they bleed and butting into a stomach with a flying leap cannot be faked.

Rare humor pops out around the wrestling ringside in unconscious bursts. At a recent bout when two gladiators were locked in a cave-man struggle of eye-gouging and bone-bending they suddenly fell apart in exhausted relaxation. A leather lunged voice shouted: "Talcum powder, please. They are chafing!"

FIREMEN SAVE BIRDS

VIENNA. (AP)—Turning in alarm of fire brings swift punishment in Vienna, where the municipality does not like to waste gasoline. But an alarm does not count as false if turned in by persons who see a bird or animal in distress. The longest ladders recently came into play when firemen rescued a swallow which had caught its head in the wire netting of a high balcony.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and HEARTS S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Now that all the republican shouting and the democratic wailing over the new deal defeat in Rhode Island has simmered down, the inner circle is mulling over a few salient facts about the meaning of the defeat and what caused it. The first fact is that Roosevelt will lose New England in 1936. In this connection, new dealers point out that he never did carry it in 1932, though he did make notable gains in 1934.

The second is that the Rhode Island defeat has stimulated democratic politics to considerable national activity. Their smug cocksureness regarding the outcome of 1936 has had a dent knocked into it the size of a bathtub. Simultaneously, and paradoxically, this same dent has not been an unmixed blessing to the republicans, for reasons not too obvious on the surface.

Republican best bet for 1936 was to form a coalition ticket including the democratic party. But with the Rhode Island success staring them in the face, it begins to look as if they would sweep aside any amalgamation with democratic Tories.

If they do this, it will probably cost them the election.

LOCAL POLITICS

FINALLY, and not to be glossed over, is the fact that the Rhode Island campaign was heated with local jealousies and cross-currents which made it anything but indicative of the country at large.

Here are some of the intra-state hornets which stirred up the animals in Rhode Island:

1. Processing taxes on cotton bored down with a particularly heavy hand on the state's textile industry. Largely owned by absentee Boston merchants, Rhode Island textile mills are far behind the south in equipment, and were among the first to close down. Republicans attributed this unemployment to the democrats.

2. Democratic Governor T. F. Green was anything but an asset to his party. He incurred labor wrath by calling out the national guard in the Woonsocket strike last year.

3. Racial animosities flared on both sides. The state is largely Catholic, but there is a bitter war for control between the Catholic French Canadians and the Catholic Irish.

The republicans cleverly picked a candidate—Charles F. Risk—who was friendly to the Irish, but also half French. Democratic candidate Prince, on the other hand, made his appeal to the French, pointing out that they got most of Mr. Farley's patronage.

So the Irish either voted republican or stayed away from the polls.

4. Finally, the democrats of Rhode Island are divided into three bitter factions. They are: a. Aristocratic Peter Golet Gerry, married to wealthy Edith Stuyvesant Vanderbilt, and himself equally wealthy, dominates the Tory faction. He is vigorously anti-new deal.

b. Tom McCoy, democratic ruler of Pawtucket, dominates the left wing group.

c. In the middle is Governor Green, with whom democratic candidate Antonio Prince was allied. Amid all these wranglings his defeat was certain. His chief lesson was what the democratic party is up against if it does not stick together in 1936.

NEW YORK.—Barney Oldfield and George Robertson will fight for an automobile driving supremacy at the Brighton Beach motordrome September 4 and 5. These races will mark Oldfield's first appearance in New York in six years. His races against Robertson will be over the five-mile distance and one-hour contests.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellisworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

How Politics Have Changed

Political parties are prone to change their complexion, chameleon-like, to conform to the exigencies of the moment. They follow rather than shape public opinion, reflecting popular demand and capitalizing on the political pressure which necessity has generated. Consequently, the history of political parties, their platforms and slogans, the pronouncements of their spokesmen, depict faithfully the changing social and economic trends of succeeding periods. A single instance shows this clearly.

In 1887 a democratic congress passed an appropriation of $10,000 to aid farmers in certain drought-stricken counties of Texas to purchase seed grain.

President Cleveland of sturdy democratic stock, promptly vetoed the measure with these comments: "I can find no warrant for such an appropriation in the constitution, and I do not believe that the power and duty of the general government ought to be extended to the relief of individual suffering which is in no manner properly related to the public service or benefit. A prevalent tendency to disregard the limited mission of this power and duty should, I think, be steadfastly resisted. The half-century since Cleveland's day is marked by the difference between ten thousand dollars and a golden flood in terms of billions.

Whenever I encounter one of those well-eyed reformers, waving his hands (which ought to be used for constructive performance), damning the government, complaining about everything and at the same time accepting federal relief, it occurs to me that the capital he condemns takes the risk, gives him employment, and to all of this his contribution is nothing more than a case of indigestion. Santa Ana is quite fortunate in being quite free from this type of disturbance.

NEWS AND NOTES OF SUMMER RESORTS

Ephraim Z. Beansoup, manager of Gumboll Gables, popular summer resort in Santa Ana canyon, reports that three guests caught fish over the week-end and that the other four guests caught bad colds. . . . Mr. Beansoup also announces that Miss Tessie Giotz, of El Modena, has reserved a rocking chair for the last two weeks in August. . . . Night baseball was tried at Mud Hollow last night, but proved a failure. Only two persons attended—the umpire and Old Silas Zilch, who suffers from insomnia. . . . A big hop was held at Gumboll Gables Sunday night, three guests hopping off without paying their board bills.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

This was complaint day. Got everything adjusted but the weather. Bridge player puts in a dull evening. Too many sevens and tens, others lower and too few higher. Never liked the game anyway. Postoffice patron walked seven blocks to look into an empty box. In all probability will vote against Roosevelt. Politician calls for interview about the coming presidential campaign. Has a man who can be elected. Has to wait to see if the national convention agrees with him. Another party ordering water for breakfast. Suppose he's been up a-gin it. Phone message from Newport Beach with a compromising attitude. My lawyer said not to talk. Big real estate deal on. Going through if all the parties agree—that's obvious. Back to the weather. About midday. Complaints coming in too fast. Closed the department for the rest of the day.

This column is assured of one reader every publication day. He is the linotype operator. Astonishing how few business men welcome election days, holidays, or occasions which call for a closed shop. Breaks into the regular weekly schedule. Clerks enjoy the interruption, but the average "boss" who has become so accustomed to the old slogan that business is business, prefers to hit the ball six days a week.

Young lad over in Salt Lake City is chumming with a cub lion. Probably figuring on getting married some day.

Chet Dale gets a call from a friend who has the right idea about flowers. Chet's health schedule went cockeyed a few days ago, but he is on the main line again. So the good friend knowing that a little encouragement now and then is welcomed by the best of men, opened the office door and left a bunch of flowers as an encouragement.

Frank Briggs home from the gum chewing island after a two-week stay. Says he came back to rest. What these vacations do for you and to you is not always revealed in the literature—only in part.

Ralph Mosher leaves the ranch long enough to come in and inquire about the heat. Just because he has a nice ranch near Capistrano where the cool ocean breezes send a zephyr across the brow of the fortunately located rancher, is no reason for the assumption that we city guys like raspberries.

Earl Morrow is disinclined to continue an illness. He is able to walk about the house, visit a few neighbors, and enjoys an occasional automobile ride. I'm expecting a report almost any time that he has been inspecting some friend's refrigerator. Well, all I care to know is that he is mending permanently.

LeRay Quick is planning on a hunting trip into the rough country around Lookout. That's what he better do. And then again I wonder why he don't go to the beach. It gets rough sometimes.
